

Martin Audio Announces Next Open Days to Coincide with 50th Anniversary Party

Martin Audio is gearing up for two action packed days in early September, which will see them combine the latest in their successful Open Day programme - and their first in two years - with a party to celebrate their 50th anniversary.

Held on September 7th and 8th, the Open Days have been designed to coincide with the return of the PLASA Show in London, when the international light and sound community descends on the English capital.

The events will rigidly follow COVID rules for both staff and visitors, with appropriate protocols put in place. Sessions will be held at 09:30, 12.30 and 15:30 on September 7th, and at 10.00 and 13:00 on September 8th. Each session will run for two hours.

For the active demonstrations, guests will have the opportunity to sample the ADORN series, including the latest ceiling additions, as well as BlacklineX, CDD, TORUS and SXCF118 subwoofer. The Wavefront Precision series, recently recognised with the Queen's Award for Innovation, will also be presented.

The events will also incorporate a legacy and memorabilia walkthrough to celebrate the company's 50th anniversary. This auspicious birthday will also be celebrated with a party at the end of the first day, when the action moves to nearby Marlow for a 7.30pm start. All attendees will receive a complimentary copy of the company's

Martin Audio Announces Next Open Days to Coincide with 50th Anniversary Party

Monday, 28 June 2021 15:17

50th celebratory coffee table book.

The event is capped at 150 people and guests will need to register on a first come first served basis.

www.martin-audio.com