

New SSL Studio Centrepiece

Solid State Logic (Booth 18301) will be unveiling a new 'studio centrepiece' during a special press conference to take place at the NAMM Show at the Anaheim Convention Center between January 23 and 26. The new product, crafted with SSL's unparalleled expertise in hardware design, reflects the company's ongoing commitment to providing producers and engineers with the tools they need in the modern studio environment.

The press conference unveiling SSL's new studio centrepiece is open to all NAMM attendees and will take place on Thursday, January 23rd, at 10:15 a.m. at the SSL booth. Throughout the show, SSL will be exhibiting the ORIGIN analogue studio console, as well as the full range of Audio Creation Products, including the U Series range of controllers, interfaces, BiG SiX mixer, and full suite of 500 series modules. Additionally, for those focused on live sound, the new SSL Live V6.0 software will be showcased on the flagship L650 console - book an appointment with an SSL expert for a demonstration on the website below.

www.solidstatellogic.com