

RME Fireface 802 FS

The Fireface 802 FS is a highly integrated pro audio solution for live and studio use, all within a 19" enclosure. An interface designed for users who don't want to make compromises in sound, stability and ultra-low latency operation, and who long for an unrivaled professional feature set.

Once again a milestone interface from RME, including the best of the best and even a bit more. 60 channels of audio, better audio quality, SteadyClock FS, improved digital connections, professional high-transparency preamps, a complete effects section and operation at up to 192 kHz are the base for many more features.
